

VALUING NATURE

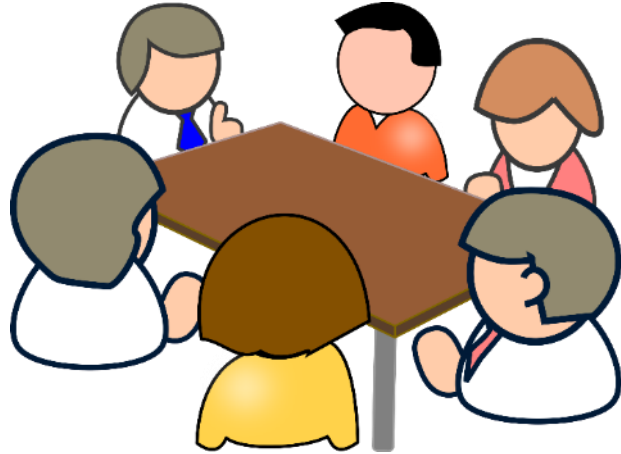

Yvonne Black
PhD Student at the Centre for Systems Studies, Hull University
Business School

The connections between urban green spaces and health and wellbeing

Connections between urban green spaces and health and wellbeing

At Valuing Nature Business Impact School I hope to.....

Learn how to increase the impact of my research on decision making (in urban planning & management; health & social care)

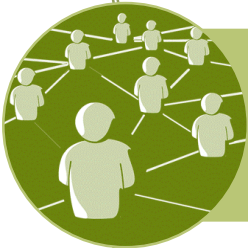

Gain some new perspectives, from inside and outside my research area

Challenges to business uptake of urban green space research

Incorporating ecological sustainability

Facilitating communications between diverse stakeholders

Developing economically viable solutions